Is It Cold In Here
Joe Diffie

Intro - C-G-D-G...D-C

```
            G                    C                    G
There's something wrong - Lord I'm feeling a chill
        C                                                    D     C
That runs through my heart - Like a torch cuts through steel
                 G              C                    G   D/Gb    Em    C
You haven't said a word - Are you feeling it too
      G              D              G
Is it cold in here - Or is it just you

         C                                                              G
Did I leave the door wide open - And let the chill just kill that old desire
            C                                                     Am    D  G6
Should I put my arms around you - Or put another log on the fire
      C                                                              G   D/Gb   Em   C
Is it my imagination - Or did the temperature just drop a notch or two
      G              D              G         C G D G …. D-C
Is it cold in here - Or is it just you

                G                  C                        G
There's no warmth at all - When I try to hold you near
        C                                  D     C
You stare into space - As if I wasn't here
           G                C                    G   D/G  Em   C
Did our love just die - Or is it just about to
       G                D            G
Is it cold in here - Or is it just you

         C                                                              G
Did I leave the door wide open - And let the chill just kill that old desire
            C                                                     Am    D  G6
Should I put my arms around you - Or put another log on the fire
      C                                                              G   D/Gb   Em   C
Is it my imagination - Or did the temperature just drop a notch or two
      G              D              Em
Is it cold in here - Or is it just you
C          G              D              G    D   C   G
Oh is it cold in here - Or is it just you
