After Sweet Memories, Play Born To Lose Again
Chords And Lyrics
By Dottsy

Capo 2nd fret (optional)

Intro – G-C

         D            D7                                  G
After Sweet Memories would you play Born To Lose again

                                    D
Pardon me - I'm just another lonely fool
                                  D7                  G
And I know the band is tired - it's half past two
                                   G7                 C
But would you play one last request - for an old friend
         D                    D7              G
After Sweet Memories - play Born To Lose again

                                                  D
After Sweet Memories - play Born To Lose again
C                            D                    G
I'm here most every night - until the music ends
                            G7        C
I know you know my story - I hear it now and then
             D                       D7                G
So after Sweet Memories - play Born To Lose again
```

Break - D-D7-G

I know the waitress here - she seats me near the band
                                  D7                    G
She brings me scotch'n soda - and her eyes understand
```

```
                                G7            C
Your hard day's night is ending - but mine will soon begin
          D                 D7                  G
So after Sweet Memories - play Born To Lose again

                                                 D
After Sweet Memories - play Born To Lose again
C                           D                   G
I'm here most every night - until the music ends
                            G7       C
I know you know my story - I hear it now and then
          D                      D7              G
So after Sweet Memories - play Born To Lose again
          D                    D7                 G         D  G
Yes after Sweet Memories - play Born To Lose again
```
