

Alligator King Chords And Lyrics By Sesame Street

Intro - D

One two three four five six seven!

Said the Alligator King to his seven sons, "I'm feelin' mighty down
Whichever of you can cheer me up will get to wear my crown

His first son brought seven oyster pearls

From the bottom of the China Sea

The second gave him seven statues of girls
With clocks where their stomachs should be

The third son gave him seven rubies

From the sheikdom Down There Beneath\

The King thought the rubies were cherries

And he broke off seven of his teeth

The fourth son tried to cheer him up with seven lemon drops

The King said, "I'm sorry son

Since that ruby episode, I just haven't got the chops."

The fifth son brought the King perfume in seven fancy silver jars

The King took a whiff, and he broke out in spots

D          A7      D
'Cause it smelled like cheap cigars

      G                          D
The sixth son gave him seven diamond rings

      A7                  D
To wear upon his toes

      G                          D                  A7                  D
The King snagged his foot on the royal red rug and crumpled up his nose

      D                          G                  D                  A7
The seventh son of the Alligator King was a thoughtful little whelp

      D
He said, "Daddy, appears to me - That you could use a little help."

          D                          G                  D                  A7
Said the Alligator King to his seventh son, "My son, you win the crown

          D                          G
You didn't bring me diamonds or rubies, but

          D                  A7      D
You helped me up when I was down.

      G                          D                  A7                  D
Take the crown; it's yours, my son - I hope you don't mind the dents

      G                          D                  A7                  D      A7      D
I got it on sale at a discount store - Cost me all of seven cents!"
Seven!